From the author of the New York Times bestselling Skilletto and Oxford series, the first in a sizzling new series following the unlikely friendship of three Upper East Side women as they struggle to achieve their dreams and find true love and happiness in the city that never sleeps. Now, as the strongminded, sassy CEO of one of the biggest jewelry empires in the country, Naomi finally has exactly what she wants—but it 's going to take more than just the right address to make Manhattan 's upper class stop treating her like an outsider. The worst offender is her new neighbor, Oliver Cunningham—the grown son of the very family Naomi 's mother used to work for. Oliver used to torment Naomi when they were children, and as a ridiculously attractive adult, he 's tormenting her in entirely different ways. Now they find themselves engaged in a battle-of-wills that will either consume or destroy them... " Strong characters and relatable situations elevate Layne 's bighearted contemporary...(which) digs into class differences, emotional baggage, and the reality of dealing with aging parents " (Publishers Weekly, starred review). I helped make your advisor's Sales Hype Do you need your advisor to succeed with investments? Do you think your advisor's strategy can beat a market index fund? Do you know how many sales your advisor must make to keep their job? What is your actual total return with all costs included? Why do many Wall Street firm owners use index funds? Most wealthy people can answer these questions. Can you? Today, the information to answer these questions is easily available but only savvy shoppers have used it to succeed. They realize that the retail financial industry is extremely profitable because the sales hype works even better than it used to work. We have learned how to manipulate behavior better. Our margins are 29%. The $1.3 Trillion per year revenues come from YOU. I used to work for a few firms. I helped create some of the hype that our sales people used to separate you from your money or your potential future earnings. A plain market index fund beat 92-95% of the returns of our "professional" managers so we steer you away from them. However, we still get most investors to pay even for poor results. It is marketing, sales and misleading hype! Why should you give up your advisor? You may be giving up 63% of your total potential value. It is easy to do better on your own. Do you really think an expert at selling knows anything about what will happen to a security or the market in the next hour, week or year? Before I show you how to invest for your success, I think it is time you understood the marketing and sales HYPE. Most retail investors hate losing—more than they love winning. Most think Wall Street is a casino where some win but they forget that only the house wins long term. Isn't it time you learn how Warren Buffett avoids the Sales Hype and invests for success.
